Dear Friends,

I'm sure you feel the need to go deeper, to let your faith grow and mature the way God wants it to. To move it from the fringes to the center of your life so it has a deeper meaning and is more relevant to your life.

Learning your faith and getting involved in the parish has never been easier. As Fall begins this month, St. Lawrence is offering a series of mini courses for adults looking for more. deepening your grasp of our Faith, for learning to pray better, to worship experiences, and understanding the Bible.

We'll be offering Alpha starting in October – it's for anyone who wants find meaning in life and explore how faith in Jesus can bring that to you. We do it over a friendly meal each week, making new friends and talking over issues that matter.

We've got Scripture courses to crack open the mysteries of the Bible we don't yet understand. No knowledge of anything required to start. We help you and it's not hard. Just bring with you and open heart.

We've got powerful programs for families to gather with others and enjoy their faith with their kids and for the kids to get to know Jesus, and have fun. They learn how to pass it on...

For teens we have open gym nights and Lifeteen. Young adults gather together now to find ways to serve, do something meaningful, and to connect life and faith together.

Kids love our AllStars during the first part of the Mass at 9:30 and 11:00. That's when the Bible comes alive for them in a way they can get it.

There is something for every age level and every person, no matter if you are beginner or an experienced veteran in formation courses.

Got a prayer life that is dead or on life support? You're not the only one. So we've got a great little course that teaches you how to really pray well and get something of it! Don't we all need to take that? It's called "Oremus".

You know you should sign up for an hour of Adoration too... Hundreds of people throughout the week rotate through that adoration chapel, praying for loved ones and themselves. Got a kid fallen away from the faith? A family crisis? A loved one with a bad diagnosis or chronic illness? You've got something you need. Adoration moves mountains. Really.

When 100-150 people come to the Church for Seasons of Praise and worship the Blessed Sacrament together in prayer and song, something powerful called Divine Grace gets unleashed on the world, and miracles start happening: conversions, healings, reconciliations – you name it.

All this great stuff is on our website and explained in the St. Lawrence Faith Center booklet of Fall Offerings. Pick one up in the back of the Church.

Do yourself and those who depend on you a favor: deepen your faith this Fall at the St. Lawrence Faith Center.

God bless,

Fr. Richard Gill

POPE FRANCIS ASKS,
DO YOU DISCERN
GOD’S WILL BEFORE MAKING A DECISION?

By Elise Harris

Pope Francis dedicated his homily at Mass to the theme of obeying God’s will, saying a Christian should have a heart like Mary, who was open and obedient to all that God asked of her. “Do I pray that the Lord gives me the desire to do his will, or do I look for compromises because I’m afraid of God’s will?”

The Roman Pontiff encourages us to pray in order “to know God’s will for me and my life, concerning a decision that I must take; the way in which we handle things ... there are so many things.”

First, he said, there is the need to pray to know God’s will, then to pray for the desire to do it, and finally when we have these things, we pray “for the third time, to follow it. To carry out that will, which is not my own, it is his will. And all this is not easy.”

DISCERNMENT IN A NUTSHELL

By Joseph A. Tetlow, SJ

From Making Choices in Christ

Human beings are moved by a dense complex of motives, both in the things we do from day to day and in our big decisions. What drives a young woman to become a doctor or a young man to be an engineer?

Many things contribute: success, altruism, interest. Or what drives a woman who has smoked for years to quit or an obese man to get thin? Again, many things contribute: fear of death, desire for health, concern of family. But they all interact in a kind of movement that eventually drives the person to act. Master Ignatius learned to think about those dense complexes of motives—images, ideas, attractions, revulsions—as “spirits.”

We can all name many spirits. There is school spirit, in which everyone cheers together for the football team. There is fear, which can depress an entire city, and exultation, which can cause a whole nation to rise up. But spirits are not only secular. A thrill of devotion fills St. Peter’s Square when a saint is canonized. A spirit of prayer drives people to make retreats. Christians under atheistic despotisms are moved to remain faithful.

Consolation and Desolation

Master Ignatius noted that these dense complexes of motives and energies take on two configurations, which he identified with consolation and desolation. He discovered that both consolation and desolation can move you toward God or pull you away from God. Then he noted that sometimes consolation comes from a good spirit and sometimes from a bad spirit, and he noted the same thing about desolation.

Ignatian spirituality applies this to interpreting major decisions and daily experience as well. The movement of spirits, obviously, involves a set of complex variables:

consolation and desolation, good and evil spirits, movements to and away from God. . .

How Spirits Work

Some basic patterns are easy to grasp. For instance, as you would anticipate, the good spirit usually brings love, joy, peace, and the like; the evil spirit characteristically brings confusion, doubt, disgust, and the like. Another pattern: when you are leading a seriously sinful life, a good spirit will visit you with desolation to turn you around; an evil spirit will keep you content so that you will keep sinning. Another clear pattern is the opposite of this: when you are seriously serving God, the spirits change roles. The evil spirit clouds your day with desolation to lead you away from God, while the good spirit fills your day with trust and love of God. And a final, easily grasped pattern: a spirit that works in light and openness is good, while a spirit cloaked in secrecy and deception is evil.

What to Do about Feelings

Some basic practices are also easy to figure out. When you have made a good decision to serve God better and after awhile go into desolation, you should not change the decision; it’s hardly a good spirit moving you. When you are feeling down, you would do well to pray a little more and increase the help you give to others. When, without warning or any preparatory activity, you are consoled with the love of God above all things, you can trust that it is a good spirit (particularly if it comes with tears). But when you are thinking or praying and grow consoled or disconsolate—well, test those movements. They could come from either spirit, as we have seen.

There is a good deal more to Ignatian discernment, and it gets no simpler. It is not, however, a merely human discipline. “Now instead of the spirit of the world, we have received the Spirit that comes from God, to teach us to understand the gifts that he has given us” (1 Corinthians 2:12). Serious disciples cherish this gift and put it to good use.

DISCIPLE
SPOTLIGHT

Michele and Nicole
LaRusso

Faith has always been a huge part of our lives.

For as long as we can remember, we have been attending mass at St. Lawrence O’Toole.

Even after Confirmation, we continued to attend mass and became apart of the Teen Club. When it was time to go to college, we made sure there was a church nearby so that we could continue our spiritual journey. We might have been exhausted walking a mile to St. Mary’s in the little town of Oneonta, but it was all worth it each time we entered the house of our Lord.

After returning home from college, our faith continued to grow. In 2015, we got the opportunity to become more involved when Nicole attended Cornerstone and Michele became a Lector. This allowed us to meet more people in our community and finally put names to the friendly faces
we saw each week.

We still wanted to do more and last summer we heard about the Alpha program through Father Gill. The best part was that it was the first series being held for the Young Adult ministry beginning at St. Lawrence. Finally we had the chance to share our faith with others our age, what could be better than this?

After doing Alpha for the first time, we chose to take part in it again for a chance to meet even more people our age that share our same values and beliefs. Since then, the Young Adult ministry has continued to grow and held many series. This is the place where we have made friends for life through the help of God. We are truly grateful for this community and all that this church has blessed upon us. God is good all the time!

SCHOOL OF LOVE AND GRATITUDE RELATIONSHIP TO LIVED EXPERIENCE

From the Leaders’ Guide to Marriage:
Love and Life in the Divine Plan

Reflection

Watching her husband reading to their young children one evening, her heart swelled in gratitude for the tender and loving man that God had made for her.
Catching her look of love, he paused and looked deeply into her eyes, returning her smile. He savored the moment of peace and the warmth of his family surrounding him, thinking that he certainly had so much to be grateful for. Later, after the children were tucked in bed, she embraced him and told him how grateful she was to have him. He told her, “God has given us so much, I’ve been feeling lately like we certainly have a lot to offer another child . . .”

Discussion Question

What good thing did your spouse do recently that you could have thanked him or her for, but didn’t? Write it down on the index card. Share it privately with your spouse.

CATHOLIC GUIDANCE FOR END-OF-LIFE DECISION MAKING

End-of-life decisions, for ourselves and for loved ones, are among the most challenging we will ever face. There is a movement in our nation to legalize assisted suicide, but that is a false answer and is a dangerous experiment. Our Church offers comfort and practical guidance to live and die with dignity. Visit www.CatholicEndofLife.org to watch the video and read the New York State Bishops' document "Now and at the Hour of Our Death." Learn why the Church favors compassionate medical care, and why the Church opposes physician-assisted suicide.
