while we're at it

our vision Create a parish of missionary disciples whose personal relationship with Jesus Christ inspires others into a life-changing relationship with Him.

Dear Friends,

Thanksgiving, of course, reminds us in so many ways, of all we have to be thankful for. It's so important to stop now and then and take stock of all the blessings we have and give thanks to God who is the source of them all.

But it is also a time our heart should open up to the many people around us who are hurting in some way. They are many and we pass them by usually without noticing the wounds they are carrying. I am thinking of the many whose lives have not turned out well, who are passing through the hardest part of their lives, who have hit rock bottom. For them, there is no Thanksgiving this year.

Think over these examples of people who are facing the holidays and ponder what suffering they are experiencing. They might be your next door neighbor or a member of your family.

- A family who lost a son to drugs or a car accident this year and it is the first holiday without them. Nothing is the same.
- A man facing the holidays out of work, worrying about how to provide for his family.
- A woman abandoned by her husband for someone new facing loneliness and rejection.
- A family missing a son confined to a long term in prison.
- A widowed mother whose children no longer visit or call, who soldiers on bravely, but crying inside.
- A family struggling with a gravely ill child during the holidays.
- A family consumed by a son after multiple treatment centers and relapses, feeling they are running out of options to help him find a way out.
- Parents struggling with the suicide of a severely depressed child.

Take a look around and you will discover these and similar hurting people close by. Give some thought to how you can reach out and accompany them with your Christian compassion.

It's one thing to write a check and send it off somewhere to help far away people. Look around close to you and you might be able to do some real good. You just need to choose to be hands on with your charity.

God bless,

Fr. Richard

tummies full of love

Tracey Earl Welliver, MTS

When Jesus raised his eyes and saw that a large crowd was coming to him, he said to Philip, "Where can we buy enough food for them to eat?" He said this to test him, because he himself knew what he was going to do. Philip answered him, "Two hundred days' wages worth of food would not be enough for each of them to have a little [bit]." One of his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, said to him, "There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish; but what good are these for so many?" Jesus said, "Have the people recline." Now there was a great deal of grass in that place. So the men reclined, about five thousand in number. Then Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks, and distributed them to those who were reclining, and also as much of the fish as they wanted. When they had had their fill, he said to his disciples, "Gather the fragments left over, so that nothing will be wasted." So they collected them, and filled twelve wicker baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves that had been more than they could eat. When the people saw the sign he had done, they said, "This is truly the Prophet, the one who is to come into the world."

-John 6:5-14

For many years Alberta Hairston was the Catholic campus minister at North Carolina A&T University and Bennett College, both traditionally black institutions. She operated out of a house named for Sr. Thea Bowman, a great African-American sister and evangelist who helped found the Black Catholic Sister Conference. It was a small house on one of the campuses, but was open to all students, Catholic or non-Catholic. When Momma H, as she was called, started in the ministry, she had no advanced degree but she had experience helping the campus minister before her. Also, she had a great love of the Lord and His people. She also had a tremendously powerful tool of evangelization: the kitchen.

Alberta knew that if she could have a chance to feed their bellies, she could then begin to feed their souls. Of course, she could never be certain how many students might show up at a meal. But that did not matter, because somehow there was always enough. Did she perform miracles, like Jesus feeding the 5000? Well, a tray of cornbread never instantly became 3 trays of cornbread! But she did have one of the same key characteristics as Jesus: love. You see, there was always enough food for everyone because Momma H wasn't feeding college students just cornbread, chicken, and mac and cheese; she was feeding them with love.

Love changes everything. It can lead to lost souls feeling like they belong. It can help a blind person see the truth. Love is the root of true hospitality, and both Jesus and Momma H have that. There are people all throughout our lives that feel like there is not enough in this life for them. But with our actions of love, they miraculously are filled with what they need. Of course, a tray of good cornbread doesn't hurt either.

Idea for response

Identify someone who has been going through a difficult time and bring that person dinner or take him or her out to eat.

Take time to reflect

What are 3 everyday actions that I perform that show people I love them?

On Wednesday morning, October 31st, the Early Childhood Learning Center and Just the Two of Us, accompanied by faculty and staff as well as family members of the children, participated in our annual Halloween Parade. We started off at the school and paraded over to the Rectory where everyone got a special treat, and then back to our school. Thank goodness the weather cooperated. Some of our classes took a longer walk around the neighborhood to enjoy the beautiful warm autumn day. Everyone had a good time!
