while we're at it

our vision Create a parish of missionary disciples whose personal relationship with Jesus Christ inspires others into a life-changing relationship with Him.

Dear Friends,

Now the Christmas season is behind us and we move full steam into a New Year... but just a word of thanks to all of you who support our parishes. So many of you made special Christmas gifts to the parish and I want to thank you for that. In addition to the regular weekly collections, special gifts during the holidays help so much with the cost of running the parish and I am very grateful.

Naturally, as our facilities age they require regular maintenance that can be costly. At Sacred Heart we have done significant work on the heating systems for the church and parish center over the last few years. Similar work is underway now at the parish center and church at St. Lawrence, where the buildings are even older. So... thank you for your steady support, your generosity, and your love for our parishes.

But parishes don't exist to maintain themselves. They exist as places people can connect with God in a crazy busy world that seems often to have forgotten that he is the origin and goal of our lives. We want our parishes to be places we can find him, where we give him worship and praise, and where we hear his voice speak in our heart and our conscience, drawing us to himself.

Our programs and organizations offer us all so many ways to get involved: service to others, learning the faith better, deepening our prayer life, gathering for prayer, adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, healing for those grieving, strengthening marriages, religious education for kids... there is something for every stage of life for you. I encourage you to make this new year a year in which you take a step forward to put Christ at the center of your life.

This morning I was reading an article from an elderly priest, an author I've long admired. He is struggling now with many health issues typical of his advanced age. He reminded me again what it's all about, in the words of St. Ignatius:

"Man is created to know, reverence, and serve God our Lord in this life, and to be happy with him forever in the next. All other things on this earth were given to him to help him achieve this goal."

Let's try to keep our focus on that in this new year. It puts everything else into proper focus. And reminds us of what is important, and what is not.

God bless,

Fr. Richard

lessons from baptizing a frog

Tracey Earl Welliver, MTS

For the love of God is this, that we keep his commandments. And his commandments are not burdensome, for whoever is begotten by God conquers the world. And the victory that conquers the world is our faith. Who [indeed] is the victor over the world but the one who believes that Jesus is the son of God? This is the one who came through water and blood, Jesus Christ, not by water alone, but by water and blood. The Spirit is the one that testifies, and the Spirit is truth. So there are three that testify, the Spirit, the water, and the blood, and the three are of one accord.
-1 John 5:3-8

I use to lead an RCIA session on baptism where I would bring my Kermit the Frog toy from when I was a child and play baptize it. It was a session I especially made sure I led when we had children preparing for Easter sacraments. You would think Kermit would have become super holy having been baptized so many times, year after year. But if he had been real, he would not have been any holier due to multiple baptisms than he was after the first baptism. He couldn't be re-baptized. (Not to mention, of course, he is a frog.)

When Jesus came to John for baptism, he transformed the baptism of repentance that John was practicing into a baptism of redemption. And although we are called to repentance over and over in our life, redemption comes to us only once. We cannot get baptized again in the Jordan or Sea of Galilee because of romantic notions, or come into the Catholic Church by a second baptism so we can start all over. Our baptism, whether we can remember it or not, is a one-time deal. But it is the real deal. Whether you feel it or not, you are sealed for Christ and the stain of original sin has been washed away.

Too many of us take that moment for granted. Yes, you may have been baptized as an infant. But much time has passed since then and you can work to understand the impact that it had on your life. We sometimes look for a good time to begin living a stewardship way of life. However, that time already passed and God has been waiting. We are called to reflect on our baptism and respond to the call it has placed on our lives. We can respond and be disciples, or we can be like Kermit the Frog, always searching for a new start that never comes.

Idea for response

Look for your baptismal certificate and place it somewhere of prominence and reflect on what it means to answer your baptismal call.
