while we're at it

our vision Create a parish of missionary disciples whose personal relationship with Jesus Christ inspires others into a life-changing relationship with Him.

Dear Friends,

As I'm writing this letter I'm preparing for another funeral, the kind that has become tragically routine. Whenever that phone call comes in to the parish office about a drug related death of a young person in the prime of life, we are heartbroken but not quite shocked anymore. There are several each year and the reports fill the newspapers. We're in danger of becoming numb to the epidemic.

One of my buddies in high school was a kid who had it all – brains and good looks and athletic too, the “most likely to succeed” type. But he washed out of college in a blur of drug abuse and could never hold a job and died young of complications. I never forgot that guy.

Studies are published and books are written on how and why the scourge of drug abuse and related crime has spread to practically every community in the nation – Brewster, Danbury, Carmel and Mahopac included. Experts search for answers and solutions but none seem to work.

For the family, it is often the climax of years of struggle to rescue him. Usually they have done everything they could, even heroically fighting for their loved one, but in the end they found themselves helpless before a force that stole their child from them.

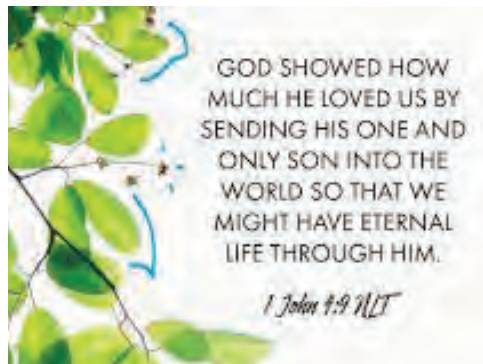

I wonder what it is about our contemporary society that leaves so many people unhappy and unfulfilled that they seem to be without hope. While others flourish and succeed, others are left behind and dwell in despair, turning to artificial pleasures - searching somehow to fill a hole in their heart. What can we do to give hope and faith to people, to help them embrace life as good and as a gift from a loving God? Why is it that the Good News of Jesus – that a loving God has plans for our good and our happiness – does not catch on in so many hearts?

As a Church, we will mourn and grieve with the family, and entrust this soul to the mercy and love of the good God who created him. He loved the world so much that he sent his only Son, that the world would not perish... We trust in him to set things right in the Kingdom where he rules forever.

And we pray that our broken and confused world turn to him in our struggles and helplessness and call upon his Holy Name: “Come, Lord Jesus, come! Only you have the words of eternal life, and we have come to know and believe that you are the Holy One of God.”

God Bless

saying goodbye

Cecilia Britez

The idea of losing something or someone is always daunting. Imagine losing a person, so that the world may gain something even bigger than what you have lost. This is where I am standing, and this is where our community at St. Lawrence is also standing right now...we are losing our dear friend Norvilia.

Norvilia is entering a cloister convent in Missouri. Our Lord Jesus Christ called her to become a cloistered nun right before He called her to become part of St. Lawrence O'Toole. Isn't this as painful as it is beautiful? Jesus gave Norvilia to us as a gift; that is what vocations are for any family or community. Norvilia will be praying for our Parish, for everyone she met here at St. Lawrence, for every person, family and organization who specially supported her vocation through the Labowré Society, or by other donations. I know as a fact that she will be praying for Father Gill, for you and for me, for our families.

We are losing her physical presence, but are gaining her soul which will be constantly burning in front of the Blessed Sacrament at Benedictines of Mary, Queen of Apostles convent. As a cloistered nun, Norvilia will not be preoccupied with missions, academic productions or other means of charity. Her life will be dedicated to only two things: work and prayer inside the convent.

There is only one way to communicate with Norvilia now. You can write to her at:
Abbey of Our Lady of Ephesus
P.O. Box 303
Gower, MO 64454

Norvilia asked that we also keep her in our prayers, and to always remember that any time we see the light in the sanctuary candle pointing to Jesus in the Eucharist, we remember that she is where He is, and in this way we can unite our prayers to hers.

making connections at the brewster fall festival

Lynda Holler

Last Sunday September 8th, Main Street in Brewster was almost unrecognizable. Hundreds of local people and street fair pilgrims convened in our sleepy town for the Brewster Fall Festival. It was a happy atmosphere and dozens of vendors from local businesses selling their wares to community organizations exhibiting their works, had the opportunity to meet and mingle with each other and the crowd. St. Lawrence O'Toole Parish is an important presence in the Brewster community and has been a participant in this annual event for many years. Being out on the street gives us the opportunity to talk to our own parishioners in a very relaxed environment, but also to introduce ourselves to people of different faith traditions and people with no admitted faith at all. St. Lawrence had many of our ministries represented and it was very fruitful. New families signed their children up for Religious Education and the Early Childhood Learning Center. We even saw women sign up for the upcoming Cornerstone Retreat. Both men and women were challenged to gain a greater understanding of the big questions of life and agreed to attend Alpha.

Knights of Columbus, Respect Life, Men's Ministry, Stephen Ministry, LifeTeen, Religious Education, Early Childhood Learning Center and more were promoted to the community by its dedicated leaders. We had fun spending the afternoon together as a Christian Community with the united purpose of spreading the Gospel to the ends of the Earth, beginning in our home town.

the power of prayer

Barbara Becker

My husband Bill and I have been married for forty three years. In all that time, I attended Church weekly, and Bill not so much. In my daily prayers I would always ask God to let Bill find his faith again and to bring him back to Church. One evening after the seven thirty Mass, I was speaking to a couple and the conversation came around to Bill. They were very surprised because they thought I was a widow! My husband was never in Church with me, so that was the assumption. When I told Bill what had happened, he felt bad, but it didn't change anything. He didn't go to Church. So, I continued to pray for him for many, many more years. I would at times question God as to why he hadn't answered me, but I never stopped praying for Bill.

About twelve years ago Bill became sick and needed a kidney transplant. Everything went great with the transplant. When Bill woke up after being in recovery he knew that he wanted God back in his life.

Eventually, after Bill was well enough, he started coming to Church with me. I think he was really thinking about the Yankees or the Giants, but at least he was there. I was thanking God, but still praying that he would have a relationship with God.

Then one Saturday night maybe five years ago, a man spoke about a Cornerstone retreat for men. Now, after being married for as long as we have, I knew not to bring the retreat up to Bill. Back at home, much to my surprise, he told me he was thinking of going to Cornerstone. I didn't say too much about it. Well, much to my surprise, with no nagging on my part, he went to Cornerstone! Thank you God!

Not only has his life changed, but our life together is so much better! We are both working on becoming closer to God, but now we can do this journey together!

So please, if you are praying for someone to come back to Church, or maybe for someone who has never been, please don't give up on praying. God will answer; maybe not in our time, but in His time.

It all starts with prayers.
Then an invitation to come back.
