while we're at it

our vision Create a parish of missionary disciples whose personal relationship with Jesus Christ inspires others into a life-changing relationship with Him.

Dear Friends,

The day couldn't have been any more beautiful. The pictures tell the story.

Last Sunday we held the first joint Outdoor Mass of our two parishes in the field at Sacred Heart. Parishioners from Patterson and Brewster afterward enjoyed a picnic lunch on a lovely summer day amid the newly landscaped grounds. We reflected together on the nearly 90 year history we share, from the day in 1934 the Hance family built a small chapel on their property and convinced Fr. Costello, then pastor of St. Lawrence, to use it as a mission chapel for the summer visitors to Putnam Lake. We've come a long way since then.

Looking ahead, we know that Jesus Christ is the way forward for every person and he is the answer to every fundamental human question. At St. Lawrence and Sacred Heart, we aren't here just to "hang on" in tough times or just preserve what we have. Our mission together envisions a future in which we bring Jesus to the people of Patterson and Brewster in new ways and make him the center of our lives.

We know this: only when Christ is the center of our personal lives and of our community does the culture change and people find peace of soul. Only then do we get to enter the Kingdom of Christ.

One way forward right now is the new outreach we do, hosting Masses outdoors in various neighborhoods of Brewster and Patterson – bringing Jesus to his people. We're excited to get this going September 13. Check the website for information on what is coming Sunday afternoons in September and in October.

No doubt we're living in "hard times" – vocations are down at crisis levels, parishes are closing and merging, people are drifting from the practice of the faith, and behavior that not long ago we all knew to be seriously wrong and sinful is accepted. But there have been hard times in Church history before as well.

We know the Gospel is true and that Jesus is the "Way, the Truth, and the Life". We know how this whole story ends – with Christ victorious. In the meantime, we will preach his Gospel and his Holy Spirit will guide our parishes in the way forward. Together.

God bless,

Fr. Richard Gill

one vision, two parishes come together for mass

TINA GRANT

On Sunday at 12 noon, on the lawn of Sacred Heart, both of our parishes came together to celebrated their very first Mass together. It was absolutely beautiful, marked by a picture-perfect day and the sharing in the Eucharist. Fr. Rich spoke of legacy - that which is handed down from one family member to the next. "Our parish is a family too, united in love and sacrifice for each other", said Fr. Rich. He shared the history of Sacred Heart, how the statues of the Blessed Mother and St. Joseph were unearthed when clearing out underbush, and by the contributions of the Hance family, who donated the property where the first wooden chapel for Sacred Heart was erected, burned down and the present church was built. Sacred Heart and St. Lawrence were built by parishioners who had a passion to bring together people to love Jesus. They gave us a legacy we have embraced. How grateful I am for their vision.

As I witnessed fellow parishioners from Sacred Heart and St Lawrence sharing in this Mass, listening to the spanish and both choirs come together in song, I acknowledged, once again, how blessed I am to be part of an amazing community committed to their faith and love for Jesus. Where would we be if our forefathers did not have a vision and laid that first stone? Where will our children be if we don't hand down that same legacy in order that it continues to grow throughout the ages?

In 100 years, we want the parishioners to be thankful for our passion and our vision and how we thought like God and worked together to enrich our faith. As the Mass ended, the wind blew gently across the lawn. The Holy Spirit laid its blessing on us. I could only hope that the first parishioners witnessed the fruit of their labor. A plane flew over-head and I reflected on 9-11 and how one act can change the world. Never ever forget. God loved us so much that he gave to us his only Son. We can't forget where we came from or how Jesus' love has sustained us for centuries. How blessed we are to have been handed a legacy that means so much to us. As we hand that legacy to our children, we are continuing a vision to bring together people to love Jesus. A vision that brought us to where we are today.

i decided to keep him company

RITABRITTEZ

A few years ago, I felt the need to get closer to God, not only did I want to enter heaven, but I truly wanted to make Jesus happy.

With everything that is happening now in our world, I did not want to be another person to just burden Jesus with my worries. I decided to make my best effort: to go regularly to Sunday Mass and everytime I could on weekdays, as well as go to confession more often and avoid sinning as much as I could.

But there was something missing that made me feel that I had to do something else for Him. I thought to myself, Jesus is truly present in the Eucharist, and He is the King of Kings. He is always waiting in the Divine Mercy Chapel. That's when I decided that I needed to keep Him company.

He gives so much to me and my family that the least I could do for Him is to offer my adoration for a few hours a week to console Him and in return I am comforted at the same time. In the end, the one who got the most of this "deal" was me.

There are days when I feel helpless, depressed about the pandemic and uncertain of the future. He takes all these feelings away from my heart and my mind. In return, He gives me hope and happiness, and He lets me look forward to better things.

Someone once told me that whatever you ask The Lord in front of the Blessed Sacrament, and if it is not meant to harm others, He would grant it to me.

I believe His mercy and His wisdom are bigger and better than anything I could ever ask for. My wishes and desires are so limited in comparison to what He sees, so I decided to spend my time adoring Him instead of asking him anything. Every time before I exit the chapel I say to Him: "Oh Lord I trust in you, and I know You will do what is best for me and my family, you know my worries and desires but I leave it up to you to do what is best for me." In fact, He has given me and my family opportunities that I could not even conceive of asking for.

I invite you to come to the Blessed Sacrament, to get to know Jesus, become His friend and give Him your complete trust.

into the breach

JEFF MAZZONE

As a parishioner at St. John's in Pawling who regularly leads music at different churches throughout the Archdiocese, I love telling people about how rockin' life is at St. Lawrence and Sacred Heart. That's right – for you folks reading this bulletin, did you know your parish is amazing? Let me tell you why I love bragging about this place.

Last week, I had the chance to join your parish's staff and senior leadership for two days of prayer where we asked the Holy Spirit what the Lord wants for this parish. I was impressed with everyone's love and dedication for the parish, and their awareness of the crisis facing the greater Church these days, namely, that what worked for previous generations may not have really worked at all. The staff agreed that COVID-19 is a great opportunity to break from the pre-pandemic normal and search for what God is doing in our midst. I think your parish realizes that simply saying "This is the way we've always done it" or "This is how it was when I was growing up" is not good enough. Your parish staff knows you deserve their best and is willing to do what it takes to make disciples for the kingdom.

Our friend Fr. Joe Espailat from the Bronx spent one morning with us to shake us up, reminding us of Pope Benedict's words that being a Christian is not about an idea, but is about an encounter and a relationship with the person of Jesus Christ. Fr. Espailat then asked us to take a good look at our egos and check them at the door. This challenged me to ask myself: what am I doing to reach people? How am I reaching out in faith, breaking cover, and exposing myself to the rejection that often comes in inviting others to find in Christ the answers and meaning they struggle to find elsewhere? The Lord tells the prophet Ezekiel, "I sought a man who should build up the wall and stand in the breach" (Ez. 22:30). I needed that call to battle! The only reason I'm writing this reflection is because someone had the consistent courage 20 years ago to face my cynicism, sarcasm, and pessimism and invite me to a Eucharistic adoration event where I came face to face with a God who I realized loved me in my teenage brokenness, pain, and anger. That encounter began a lifelong adventure with a truly amazing God; a God who Fr. Espailat reminded us did not suffer and die so we could remain as we are, but who died to offer us life to the fullest (Jn. 10:10)!

"The retreat was two days filled with the Holy Spirit Who helped us praise, worship, and thank God for his goodness and Who enlightened our minds as to how we could best serve the Lord in our brothers and sisters."

- Janine Kristensen

"I don't think there is anything that can help us work more productively and more creatively than breaking to pray and learn in a fresh environment with other people that share the same passion. Even the roadtrips are fun!"

- Lynda Holler

"The two day staff retreat was just perfect. It not only allowed us uninterrupted time to work as a team on new and better ways to serve and evangelize but it also enabled us to focus on our own relationships with Christ. I walked away feeling spiritually refreshed and energized."

- Maureen Herbstritt

"The Holy Spirit took His place in our midst last week. He led us to greater understanding of one another and showed us what our parish needs, and I'm excited to help bring it to everyone." - Peter Ryan
