Leave your legacy for the generations to come

Many parishioners find themselves able to leave a legacy gift in a will or a life estate to the parish, which helps ensure that future generations will find their parish church strong and vibrant in the years to come.

You can word a bequest to leave a percentage of your estate to the parish, or a fixed amount of money, or real estate.

Consider leaving a legacy for the future of St. Lawrence or Sacred Heart.

while we're at it

Dear Friends,

This past Wednesday Pope Francis started the Synod in Rome to discuss issues in the Church with bishops and lay people. Cardinal Dolan is there for the whole month. The assembly has drawn a lot of criticism because many seem to be headed there from places like Germany with ideas of radically changing the Catholic faith we know. There are definitely such individuals going with an agenda. Pope Benedict warned the Church that what is important is not our plans and agendas, as good as they may be. What is important is that we – both the Pope and all of the Church – listen to the Holy Spirit and his plan. Jesus promised the Holy Spirit would guide his Church. So let's pray that he guides these meetings in Rome.

Meanwhile, we're focused on doing what really matters – forming kids and families in our faith, promoting Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, hearing Confessions and celebrating the Eucharist, and bringing new people into the faith.

In less than two weeks, we'll bring three busloads of parishioners up to the Eucharistic Congress in Auriesville. Are you signed up yet? Seats on our buses are going fast – sign up today. Reserve your seat at: stlawrenceotoole.org/NYS_EC

We're offering a great lineup of classes this Fall for adults to grow in faith – on finances, on Scripture, on the Eucharist. We've got a great support group for those grieving. Check it out in our bulletin and see what can help you grow in faith.

We've got 20 small groups running weekly to help us form good spiritual friendships and help each other grow in faith. Maybe it's time you joined one.

We're running programs to teach immigrants English, shelter for the homeless, tutoring for kids, and outreach to women with unplanned pregnancies. Plenty of opportunities for you to volunteer...

There's an old slogan – "All politics is local." I'd like to adapt that a bit: "All good religion is local." – It happens in the parish church, in small groups, in homes. That's where faith gets real and personal – between each person and Jesus.

That's what our faith is all about.

God bless,

Fr. Richard

our vision Create a parish of missionary disciples whose personal relationship with Jesus Christ inspires others into a life-changing relationship with Him.

my son carlo: an evening with antonia salzano acutis

TRISHA THIEN

Antonia Salzano Acutis

During the first LifeTeen nights of the year, we had a couple of talks that brought up the young Blessed Carlo Acutis. The high schoolers learned of his life, and how he was like them: only 15, playing video games, going to school, and trying to follow Jesus.

So after learning about the soon-to-be saint, we took the opportunity to bring a few of those high schoolers to a talk this past Thursday to Immaculate Conception Parish where they listened to Blessed Carlo Acutis' mom, Antonia Salzano Acutis, give a talk on sainthood, holiness, and the power of the Eucharist.

She gave an amazing witness on all of these, but what was more amazing was that the students got to see and hear someone who knew a real saint and heard for themselves that they also can be saints like Blessed Carlo.

After attending the talk, each student took a minute at Blessed Carlo's relic to offer up a prayer to him. I can't wait to see how these high schoolers continue to grow as they take more opportunities like this to encounter the Lord.

blessing of st. michael statue

On the feast day of St. Michael the Archangel, Friday September 29th, Fr. Rich blessed the newly installed statue located in St. Lawrence O'Toole's Grotto.

The Cocuzzo family was gathered to witness the blessing. The Archangel St. Michael stands ready to assist us in our battles against the forces of hell that seek to undermine our faith and virtue.

pawsitively blessed

On Sunday, October 1st., Fr. Hernandez blessed the animals in St. Lawrence O'Toole's Grotto.

brewster's compassionate spirit shines to raise money for the homeless

MIKE LEONARD

I came across a quote the other day, by writer and teacher Margaret Wheatly: "There is no power for change greater than a community discovering what it cares about." Last Saturday at our annual donor luncheon, the community of Brewster came together in full force to resoundingly show that they care about our programming at Brewster Cares.

The luncheon took place at Las Mañanitas restaurant, a longtime supporter of Brewster Cares, where a packed house enjoyed the views, delicious food, and beverages. Guests intermingled with the Brewster Cares leadership team, offering suggestions and support. After dinner, we celebrated Harold Lepler with our annual Friend of the Poor Award for his inspiring and dedicated support of both Brewster Cares and the community at large. We spoke about our programs and plans for the future and saw some insight into the personal effects of our programs through the story of Dora, one of our most faithful ESL students. Coffee and dessert capped a highly successful event.

A special thanks to all of our volunteers, donors, corporate sponsors, partner organizations, and St. Lawrence Parish for being the engine that powers everything we do. A little from you makes a big difference.

If you would like to support Brewster Cares, here are three ways you can help:

1. Donate. All of these programs require funding. If you'd like to get involved on a deeper level please consider becoming a monthly supporter. We also always need supplies for our shelter and warming center. If you have donations in kind or would like to organize any sort of drive, please reach out.
2. Volunteer. We need volunteers for all of our programming.
3. Spread the word. We are still a young organization, and we want to make sure all those that need our help or may want to support our causes, know who we are.

LYNDA HOLLER
DIRECTOR OF DISCIPLESHIP

PAUSE

For the last couple of weeks, I have been reflecting on the Gospel reading about the landowner who hired laborers to work his vineyard. Some men were hired early, and they worked a full day for him. Others worked for lesser amounts of time; some as little as an hour. At the end of the day, he paid them all the same and that is where the ruckus begins - for the laborers and for us.

From a young age, we begin to consider ourselves authorities on fairness. Long before the age of reason, preschoolers vent their frustration by screaming, "It's not fair!" So even though we weren't the ones sweating all day in the vineyard, our human nature sees the owner's behavior as unjust. Clearly, the landowner wanted to make his generosity known to all because he could have avoided the controversy entirely by paying the first-hired laborers first. Each group could have walked away satisfied never knowing what the later groups earned.

But rather than just looking at it from a financial point of view, let's consider what was accomplished that day. The landowner needed workers to transform his fields. The laborers who were there a full day made a bigger impact on the health and productivity of the vineyard than the ones who only worked an hour or so. Before leaving, the men who labored a full day could have paused and looked at the large section of field they worked and felt a great sense of satisfaction.

I want to look at my relationship with Jesus the same way. He invites all of us into his Kingdom. Some people begin following Him as children, others as young adults or in middle life. Others resisted Jesus' call until their last years or deathbed, but no matter when the conversions occur, Jesus, like the landowner, is generous with all of us. As disciples, no matter when we entered God's service, let us pause and reflect on our years of toil and sweat with a sense of accomplishment knowing we are positively impacting the health and productivity of his Kingdom.

Scripture: Read Matthew 20:11-12. What stands out?

Call to Action: Embrace the idea of working hard for God and reflect on what you can accomplish rather than what you will receive.
